Dear Dr. Henney,
I have recently returned to college. I am working hard to prepare ~~me~~ to go to medical school. I feel I can best serve those around me as a doctor. I want to help people be well. I look forward to having a large collection of tools to heal the sick.

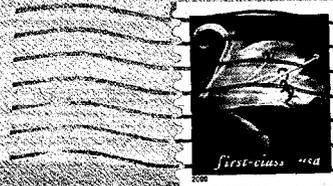

Please help me reach this goal. Please ban the agricultural use of human antibiotics. I dread the possibility that some drugs will no longer be useful once I am a doctor.

Thank you,
~~the end~~
